• SETUP •

To start a game of Le Roy des Ribauds:

- 1) Shuffle all the cards.
- 2) Draw 4 cards, and put it in a face-down row called the Court.
- 3) Deal a hand of 3 cards to each player.
Note : If a player has 2 Reines in their starting hand, they put these two cards under the draw pile, and draw 2 cards to replenish their hand. If a player has 3 Reines in their starting hand or if each player has two, then the deal is canceled, and each player has to draw 3 new cards.
- 4) Use all the remaining cards to form a face-down draw pile.
- 5) Leave enough space for a discard pile (cards are always put face-up in the discard pile). You'll use the discard pile to create a new draw pile once the original draw pile is empty.
- 6) The starting player is selected randomly.

RULES

Actions

Each player takes turn playing a card in the Court. You can either:

- Reveal a card in the Court and apply its effect.
- Replace any card in the Court with one of the cards in your hand. You can put it face-up and apply its effect, or put it face-down.

End of the game

the game ends when one of the players meets the conditions of one of 3 possible conspiracies:

- The Coronation: 3 Rois (Kings) are face-up in the Court during your turn.
- The Mariage : you start your turn with 3 Reines (Queens) in your hand.
- The Murder : During your turn, there's a face-up card between two face-up Assassins (Rogues) in the court.

CARDS EFFECTS

Effects are triggered when a card is played in the Court.

Chevalier (Knight): Switch two cards in the Court, then hide or reveal any card in the Court. This does not trigger the effect of cards that are revealed this way.

Reine (Queen): Look at 2 random cards in the hand of your opponent. If you discover any Reine (Queen), discard it, and your opponent has to draw cards to replenish their hand.

Roi (King): Draw 2 cards and add it to your hand. Then, discard two cards from your hand.

OR

Reveal a card in the Court.

Assassin (Rogue): Look at 2 face-down cards in the Court.

HISTORY

In the kingdom of France, the king's name is Philippe-Auguste. As clever as he is cunning, he rules over his people with an iron fist.

However, in the underworld, another name is whispered with reverence : le Roy des ribauds. Even Paris's most dangerous cut-throats and assassins fear him. And, between light and darkness, intrigues and political manoeuvres are legion.

Précision:

Lorsque vous jouez un Roi et utilisez son effet pour révéler une carte de la Cour , vous n'activez pas l'effet de la carte révélée.

Rule clarification :

When playing a King and activating its effect to reveal a card in the Court, do not activate the effect of the card revealed that way.
